

Arrested

Sitting under armed guard in the sun on the Zambian bank of the Zambezi river, I knew we were in for a rough time and a long stay in a Zambian jail. True, we had nothing to hide and were missionaries in transit to Malawi, but the hostile expression on the face of the camouflaged soldier and the nervous way he fingered his AK47 spoke louder than the facts.

Suddenly a shout of triumph went up from a customs official — he had found a South African identity book on one of our missionaries, who had been stripped and searched.

“All residents in South Africa carry them — but see, it says I’m a British citizen,” his explanations fell on deaf ears. The Zambians were convinced they had four spies, and no amount of logic was going to change that.

“Railway carriages, locomotives and mielie meal from South Africa—you accept. What’s wrong with a missionary from South Africa?”, one of our members asked.

I called the members together. “We’re in for a prison ministry chaps — but God is in control. Hear the Word of God.” There in the blazing sun at Kazangulu ferry God prepared us for what lay ahead through the reading of Psalm 27.

“The Lord is my light and my salvation; I fear no one. The Lord protects me from all danger. I will never be afraid. When evil men attack me and try to kill me, they stumble and fall. Even if a whole army surrounds me, I will not be afraid; even if enemies attack me, I will still trust God.” □
Psalm 27:1-3

SA Missionary in Angola

"God preserve us from shortsightedness"

As an effort to attract the attention of Angolans living under the shadow of Frelimo's control, South African missionaries have been sent to Angola.

Mr. Peter Hammond, leader of the Frontline Fellowship, said that the missionaries were sent to Angola to help the people of that country to see the need for the Gospel of Christ.

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were sent to Angola to help the people of that country to see the need for the Gospel of Christ.

Evidence of horror in Mozambique.

Missionary testifies to Frelimo slaughter

Disclosures of Marxist mass murders in Mozambique

The following is a testimony by a pastor on the mission work in Mozambique.

Mr. Peter Hammond, leader of the Frontline Fellowship, said that he had been in Mozambique for several years and had seen the horrors of the Frelimo regime.

He said that the Frelimo regime was responsible for the deaths of thousands of people and the destruction of many villages.

Mr. Peter Hammond, leader of the Frontline Fellowship.

Ex-soldiers 'well suited' to tough missionary work

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

The Frontline Fellowship has been successful in recruiting ex-soldiers for missionary work in Mozambique.

Mr. Hammond said that these ex-soldiers were well suited to the tough conditions of the mission work.

He said that the ex-soldiers had the necessary skills and experience to carry out the mission work in Mozambique.

Mr. Peter Hammond, leader of the Frontline Fellowship.

Captured by Frelimo

Soldiers seize missionary team

Bid to free missionary

South African missionaries were captured by Frelimo soldiers in Mozambique.

The missionaries were taken to a prison camp where they were held for several days.

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were treated with respect and were allowed to practice their religion.

Baptist minister is Frelimo's top captive

Missionaries tell of chilling week as war prisoners

The Baptist minister, Mr. Peter Hammond, was the top captive of the Frelimo regime.

Mr. Hammond said that he was held in a prison camp where he was treated with respect.

He said that the missionaries were held for a week and then released.

The curious missionaries with 'combat experience'

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were well equipped for the mission work in Mozambique.

He said that the missionaries had the necessary skills and experience to carry out the mission work in Mozambique.

He said that the missionaries were well equipped for the mission work in Mozambique.

ster ant

Four missionaries detained in Zambia

ABDUCTED

Four missionaries were detained in Zambia after crossing the border at gunpoint.

The missionaries were taken to a prison camp where they were held for several days.

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were treated with respect and were allowed to practice their religion.

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

Missionaries detained by Zambia preach to MNR

The missionaries were taken to a prison camp where they were held for several days.

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were treated with respect and were allowed to practice their religion.

He said that the missionaries were held for a week and then released.

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

The missionaries were taken to a prison camp where they were held for several days.

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were treated with respect and were allowed to practice their religion.

He said that the missionaries were held for a week and then released.

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

The missionaries were taken to a prison camp where they were held for several days.

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were treated with respect and were allowed to practice their religion.

He said that the missionaries were held for a week and then released.

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint

The missionaries were taken to a prison camp where they were held for several days.

Mr. Hammond said that the missionaries were treated with respect and were allowed to practice their religion.

He said that the missionaries were held for a week and then released.

Missionaries taken over border at gunpoint.